

Barrington Courier-Review

my home • my local news

December 31, 2013 12:05 p.m.

Start your year with laughs at these upcoming shows

SPONSORED CONTENT By: Anne Thompson, Local Media

Whether you had a great, memorable year in 2013 or you are ready to welcome 2014, ringing in the New Year with laughs is the best way to get a fresh start with a positive attitude. Raue Center for the Arts is offering shows that are sure to bring some much-needed laughter this January. Here is a look at what Raue Center has in store.

Lucy's Comedy Café

Lucy's Comedy Café with Improv will be hitting the stage on January 17 with the affordable ticket price of $20 ($25 at the door). With a blend of stand-up and improvisational comedy, this show is sure to provide the side-splitting laughs you need to start the year off right.

Dave Coulier

Famous for his role as “Uncle Joey” on Full House, Dave Coulier is still providing wholesome laughs with his unique stand-up routine that incorporates cartoon voices, witty observational humor and some light harmonica playing. His colorful show hits Raue Center's stage on January 18 at 8pm, with tickets starting at $24.

To grab tickets for these popular shows before they sell out, visit Raue Center for the Arts online or call 815-356-9212. Raue Center for the Arts is a non-profit organization dedicated to enriching lives through all of the arts.